Description

Provide a short description of the event and its activities.

After the website was finished, the project team organized a series of in-situ trainings with a length of 60 to 90 minutes. There have been five trainings with between 15-25 participants from at least 3 European countries. The language of these trainings was Dutch, with special break-out room parts for the English speaking audience (and others depending on language of applicants).

The participants worked with the materials, discussed the ways they would use the material and developed lesson plans in which the material was incorporated.
