Description

The opening of the National Holocaust Museum took place on March 10, 2024 with an opening ceremony in The Portuguese Synagogue in the heart of Amsterdam. The King of the Netherlands was present at the ceremony together with the Austrian prime minister Alexander van der Bellen and the German Manuela XXX as well as around 600 special invites. Among the guests were teachers and students who have been involved in advising and testing all the educational activities of the museum including the IWitness materials.
In the days after the official opening, from March 11 until March 18, 2024 everyday a special opening was held to give as many people as possible the chance to see the activities of the museum. In the presentations about the educational outreach of the museum, the IWitness material has been presented. Approximately 500 visitors have seen the IWitness educational materials.
